An adaptable, teachable, IT professional who's excited to add value to a dynamic team and make contributions to a productive and innovative environment. Capable and competent under pressure and motivated to tackle complex challenges. Always eager to share knowledge and help others develop. Strong penchant for efficiency with excellent communication skills and a passion for optimizing systems and processes. Highlight of my last position: During a single semester in my previous role as an Elementary educator, I taught over twenty 4th-grade students to master solving a Rubik's cube in under a minute, introducing them to computational thinking and enhancing their problem-solving skills.
